Mr. Newlin, of the Texas Cattle Growers' Association, demanded the books and asked the commission to issue a subpoena to compel the secretary to produce them. At-torney Habcock claimed that the Union Stock Yards and Transit Company was an Illinois corporation doing business entirely in Cook county, and that the commission had nothing to do with its affairs.

Chairman Morrison was of a different opinion and wanted to issue the subpocua, ant, after a conference with Commissioner Prouty and other associates, he announced that the subpoena would not be issued. He said he considered the Union Stock Yards and Transit Company, although an Illinots corporation doing lusiness entirely in Cook county, was handling interstate business, and hence was subject to an inquiry by the ommission. He said, however, that his associates did not agree with him, and sence no subpoena would be issued.

associates did not agree with him, and hence no subpoens would be issued.

The object of the efforts to bring in the books and records of the Union Stock Yards and Transit Company was to show that the reliroads formerly held the stock and organized the stock yards company, and Mr. Newlin was desirous of showing the relations of these roads and this company at the present time.

Secretary Denison of the Union stock yards reported at the opening of the afternoon sension with the data in reference to the organization of the company. He said the original stock was for $50,000, subscribed for as follows: Chicago, Burlington & Guincy, $12,000. Northwestern, $12,000; Rock Island, $125,000; Chicago & Alton, $2,000; Rick Island, $125,000; Chicago & Alton, $2,000; Rick Island, $125,000; Chicago & Freedrich 1900; Himois Central, $20,000; packing houses, $25,000. He did not know the present holders of the stock or any details of the transfer of ownership by the reliroads.

Mr. Babcock then renewed his motion for dismissal of the stock yards company on the ground of lack of jurisdiction, but Chairman Morrison again ruled the motion out.

DICYCLE ORDINANCE PASSED THE LOWER HOUSE LAST NIGHT.

Mr. Wolf Wanted Officers Mounted on Bicycles Detailed to Enforce the Ordinance-No Bells or Tags, but Lamps Are Required.

For a few fleeting minutes last night the spectacle of policemen mounted on bleycles chasing "searchers" over the streets, alteys and public highways of the city loomed up as an interesting possibility in the lower house of the city council. This was Councilman Wolf's solution of the prob-lem of enforcing the bicycle ordinance which was under consideration. Only Speaker Smith and Councilman Simonds however, agreed with this manner of selv-ing the problem, and like many other of Mr. Wolf's practical and unhackneyed suggestions it was buried beneath an opposi-house, is much like the Wilson bill—there's mighty little protection in it.

It emerged from the gauntlet of the house, sans tags, sans bells, mans everything but the emeting clause and a few michental provisions, such as requiring lamps, limiting speed to ten miles an hour through the streets, and five miles at street crossings, prohibiting the sprinkling of tacks, nails, cinders or scrap iron on the streets, and fixing the penalty for violation at from $1 to $\mathbb{E}$.

Abbert Young, president of the Kansas City Cyclists, and A. E. Sherrill and Dr. C. E. Wilson of the Federation of Wheelmen appeared before the house, They protested against wheelmen being required to furnish lamps or bells or to wear tags. They agreed to the limitation of speed.

Councilmen Simonds and Lynch urged strict measures to protect the safety of the public. Colonel Simonds declared that about 1 per cent of the hisycle riders were teckless in their utter disregard for the rights of pedestrians.

Councilmen Woit offered an amendment that six policemen mounted on bicycles be defailed to see that the ordinance is enforced. Messers, Wolf, Smith and Simonds alone voted for the amendment, Mr. Wolf declared he would go before the police board this afterneon and ask that officers on bicycles he detailed to enforce the ordinance. He declared that was the only way to catch the "scorchers."

Councilmen Smith, Brinkley and Craig voted against requiring lamps. Councilmen Lynch, Hough and Simonds voted for the ananimous vote.

In the upper house, Alderman Morgan made a desperate but unsuccessful effort to get through his ordinance authorizing the mayor to turn over $2.000 of his $1,000 charlity fund to the Provident Association and $1,000 to the Helping Hand institute. Superintendent Shawhan of the latter institution offered to equip a free public bath house with 100 bath tubs it given $1,000.

"Don't vote against a good thing because old man Morgan puts it forward," urged Alderman Morgan, "I have been accused of having a shurp tongue, but I am here to night to apologize for anything ugly I may have said in the past. It is nothing to me whether you pass this or not. I am working along the lines of charity and cleanliness, I wish I could say I could work along the lines of personal plety like our president. Maybe I can some day."

Alcerman Jewell said that he didn't want to give anything to the Provident Association, which, he said, did not reach the deserving poor in the proper manner. Alderman Morgan said the association had reformed and wasn't carrying on its business as it was in the past.

The matter was referred to the finance committee.

An extended debate occurred over the In the Upper House.

An extended debate occurred over the resolution rescinding the resolution for paying Broadway from Fourteenth to Six-eenth under specifications allowing comteenth under specifications allowing com-petition, and passing a resolution for pay-ing the street with Trinidad lake asphalt. The old resolution called for open specifica-tions under which all companies would be allowed to bid, while the new resolution shut out all competition. An overwhelming majority of the property owners had pe-titioned for Trinidad lake asphalt, repre-senting the wishes of the property owners. Adderman Brown insisted on competition, but Aldermen Morgan. Wyne, Morrison, Siddon and others took the position that the property owners had the right to select their material and should get what they pey for.
